Construction Completed on Kawauchi Extracurricular Activity Shared Facilities (Kawauchi Hall)

Tohoku University's extracurricular activities facilities in the Katahira and seaside areas were damaged, some becoming unusable, due to the Great East Japan Earthquake of March 11, 2011. To prevent a decrease in opportunities for and performance of the activities they hosted, existing facilities were utilized and emergency facilities were created, thanks to the understanding and cooperation of many departments in the university. Meanwhile, repairs on the damaged facilities have been carried out, and, after a long construction period, the Kawauchi Extracurricular Activity Shared Facilities (Kawauchi Hall) were completed at the end of this March. This will enable even more active engagement with extracurricular activities on campus.

Artificial turf to be installed on Kawauchi field!

Artificial turf will be installed on the Kawauchi athletic field, and an all-weather track will be built on Hoyokawara field. We apologize for any inconvenience the construction causes to classes and extracurricular activities, but ask for your understanding.

Welcome Events for New Students

As your university years are critical to your development as a person, you are strongly encouraged to participate in extra-curricular activities. They are useful not only for developing social skills, independence, cooperation, and leadership, but also for their mental and physical health benefits.

During the start of the spring semester, the senior students conduct recruitment drives for Gakuyu-kai (Students' Friendship Association) clubs and circles, and various events to welcome new students. Please take advantage of these to further enrich your student life.

Advice from the University Counseling Center

● Theme for the Term: A Good Start to University Life

As a new student, you probably have high hopes for the start of your university career. On the other hand, you may run into unexpected problems or anxieties as you start your new life. Here we want to provide some advice for starting off at Tohoku University.

Structure your University Life

You are probably eager to try out a lot of new things, from academic and club activities to part-time jobs. These all require that you continually foster good health and interpersonal relationships.

The foundation for your university life should be a healthy lifestyle. On top of this, you can build good interpersonal relationships, which will provide a sturdy base for your academic and club activities. These firm foundations will enable you to have a fulfilling campus life.

The Three Keys to Personal Growth

During your university career you will have new experiences and encounter new problems. Overcoming these by yourself is important for personal growth. It will lead you toward autonomy and help you to stop relying on your parents, guardians, or others. However, it is also important to talk about your situation and feelings with others if you encounter problems difficult to deal with on your own. For example, if you ask a classmate about the registration process or class content, you may often find that she/he has the same questions as you, and together you can learn. The university also has various counseling services. Using these you can find appropriate solutions to problems and get your problems off your chest.

The three keys to personal growth and a stable university life are knowing when to try to figure things out on your own, when to talk to someone, and when to seek counseling.
